

LINK-UP PROJECTS

These projects help Adventurers relate the things they do outside of a Camp Fire group to their Adventure experience. There are four interest areas:

Sports

Creative Arts

Performance Arts

New Challenges

Link-Ups provide youth with the opportunity to bring their diverse interests into their Camp Fire experience. They require that members decide what they want to do, set goals related to the activity, keep records to watch their progress, and evaluate and share their experience. Total time spent should be about 50 hours.

Link-Ups can be earned in Creative Arts with drawing, book or writing clubs; in Performing Arts with dance, drama or music lessons; in Sports by playing on sports teams, taking skating, gymnastics or swimming lessons. New Challenges Link-Ups are for youth who take classes in some area of interest such as computers, religion, or belonging to a special interest club like model railroading.

Link-Ups are a good way to involve kids who, because of their special interests, e.g. soccer, aren't able to participate fully with their group.

You can find Link-Up projects in the Trail Seeker Record Book, pp. 18-23, the Wood Gatherer Record Book, pp. 27-31, and the Fire Maker Record Book, pp. 30-38.
